The Columbian.

VOL 26. BLOOMSBURG, PA., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1891. NO. 43

There will be no services at the Zion and the St. James church on November 1st, as the pastor will be absent on official duty.

L. C. Bucher, a merchant at Parr's Mill, in Franklin township, died on Friday last, aged about forty-five years. The funeral took place on Sunday at McIntyre.

The ladies of the M. E. Church realized over $700 at the dinner hall on the Fair grounds last week. A good meal was served to everybody, and all their patrons were well pleased.

J. Saltzer's display of musical instruments and sewing machines at the fair, was fully up to its usual excellence. The Eaglesmere orchestra drew crowds around the booth constantly with their fine music.

There will be a democratic meeting at the Berwick Opera House, Monday evening of next week, Oct. 26th which will be addressed by Hon. C. R. Buckalew, J. G. Freeze, Esq., and Hon. E. M. Tewksbury.

Mrs. Adam Hess of Mifflin was stricken with paralysis, Saturday of last week. The entire left side is affected, and her speech a little impaired. At the present writing she is slowly recovering.

Daniel E. Krumm died at his home in Catawissa last Saturday night aged 29 years. He learned the printing trade in the News Item office, and afterwards clerked in Willits' drug store. He was buried on Wednesday at 2 o'clock.

Owing to the Wilkes-Barre & Western Rail Road Co. discontinuing their connection at Orangeville for points on their road, the Bloomsburg & Sullivan morning train leaving Bloomsburg at 6.50 a. m. will not carry passengers until further notice.

Hiester Klechner, son of Tighlman Klechner, of Milton, engineer on the P. & R. road, shot and killed himself by accident while out hunting on Sunday, at Tamaqua. He was about 17 years old. His father has been on the road for many years and is well-known along the line.

John Barnett of Shickshinny, was down Saturday last attending the fair with his son Guy, who is probably the youngest bicycle rider in this section. He is not yet four years of age—and he rode around the track (one half mile) in 5 minutes. Recently at a parade in Wilkes-Barre, he rode in the streets a distance of about seven miles.

Mary Rawlings, the eight years old daughter of E. A. Rawlings, bought a toy balloon last week, and on Sunday afternoon she wrote her name and address on a card, tied it to the balloon, and let the latter go. It sailed up over the Normal School in a northerly direction. On Tuesday she received a postal card mailed at Berkshire, Tioga county, New York, dated the 19th, saying, "I found the balloon," and signed James Carmody. The balloon travelled over one hundred miles in about 24 hours.

There was insurance on the life of the late J. F. Peacock, to the amount of $5000. The Traveler's of Hartford had $1000 which was paid over last Saturday. J. H. Maize is agent for the Traveler's. The Fidelity Mutual Life Association of Philadelphia, represented by H. P. Chamberlin, also had $1000, and this was paid on Monday. Mr. Peacock was also a member of the Royal Arcanum, in which he had $3000 insurance, which would have been paid before this but for some slight error in making out the papers. It will be paid soon.

Judge Harvey Sickler of Tunkhannock, died recently. He was an Associate Judge in Wyoming county when Judge Elwell was on the bench, and Wyoming was in this district. On Friday last Judge Thomas Butler of Washingtonville, who was an Associate Judge in Montour county with Judge Elwell, called upon the latter, at his residence, and the subject of Judge Sickler's death was mentioned, Judge Elwell remarking that he was the twentieth one of the Associate Judges who have occupied the bench with him, who has died. Judge Butler was apparently in excellent health. On Saturday night he died suddenly, at his home in Washingtonville, making twenty-one deaths among Judge Elwell's associates on the bench since 1862.

A son of J. V. Logan of this town was calling at Judge Butler's on Saturday evening when it was announced that Mr. Butler was very sick. A physician was sent for, but death came before the doctor arrived. Judge Butler was a prominent democrat in Montour county.

NOTES FROM ESPY.

On Saturday evening October 3rd, at the Lutheran Parsonage, Espy, by Rev. A. R. Glaze, Mr. Alonzo Weaver and Miss Ida Stetler, both of Light-street, were united in matrimony; and on Tuesday morning, October 13th, by the same and at the same place, Wm. H. Stroup and Phoebe J. Andes, both of Buckhorn, Pa. Both parties enter the voyage of life together with the good wishes of their many friends for success and prosperity.

It seems to us that we might with some propriety, notice the little sparrows which are again making their winter quarters so near our doors, where they can pick up the crumbs that fall from our tables. Much has been said against these innocent little creatures, but they are certainly resting under false accusations. The plentiful harvests from the gardens, orchards, vineyards and fields vindicate them from the charge that they destroy everything. We have now more sparrows than ever, and yet He who feedeth them has given us enough provisions for double our present population.

It is also said that the sparrow kills other birds, but such is not the experience about our home. We have sparrows about the house almost innumerable, and many other birds during the summer season, of almost every variety, building and rearing their young in the branches of the trees in our yard. From Spring until Autumn the birds are on the increase, singing their notes of cheer. How much we owe to the sparrows for the products of our gardens, orchards and fields, the Creator himself only knows. I know that the sparrows along with the other birds do their work so thoroughly about our home that the worm has no chance upon the fruit trees. He is scarcely seen until he disappears. In the two years of our life here not a caterpillar has been successful. The birds themselves have kept all the fruit trees clean. Many birds fly hither in the summer evenings and seek shelter in the branches of the apple trees, and the sparrow does neither molest them nor make them afraid. On the contrary we believe him to be so useful that if there is a bird heaven anywhere, he will stand a better chance for admittance and eternal praise than those wicked people who are bent upon his destruction.

CHURCH NEWS.

The Lutheran Church has inaugurated a series of Church sociables to be held on the third Monday evening of each month in the Lecture room of the church. The first one was held on last Monday evening and notwithstanding the rain a number of members and friends turned out and with the handshaking, singing &c., a delightful evening was spent. It is intended to continue these gatherings monthly throughout the year.

After the sermon in the Lutheran church last Sunday Morning, which was a practical one on church work, spiritually and socially, the pastor came from the pulpit into the altar and made some stirring remarks on the necessity of greater activity in the church. He laid great stress on the Social work and appointed a large committee whose duty shall be to see that the people are made acquainted at the sociables and the strangers welcomed.

The church council has appointed twelve deaconesses to co-operate with the Pastor in visiting the sick, looking after the needy and calling on new families.

Two large Catechetical classes are being taught each week by the Pastor, one on Thursday evening for Adults, the other on Saturday afternoon for children.

The second sermon on the commandments will be preached next Sunday evening.—"Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image &c., or "A jealous God and its results".

DON'T MISS IT.

A pleasant evening is in store for all who will go to the Opera House Saturday evening, Oct. 24, when will be presented the Operetta of Jack the Giant Killer and several pantomimes, among them being Cinderella, Timothy Trot, and Courtship of Tommy Tompkins. Fine music, good singing, handsome costumes. Reserved seats 35c., general admission 25c. Reserved seats at Dentler's.

Little Nugget.

"Little Nugget" is the name of a Farce Comedy that will appear at the Opera House, next Monday evening, October 26th. It should not be confused with the play of the "Golden Nugget," as it is of an entirely different character.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

As we went to press a day ahead of time last week, the following came in too late for insertion :

A very entertaining and instructive institute was held in the High School building on Saturday, the 10th, by the teachers of the town.

Rev. Leverett conducted the devotional exercises. The Principal, Mr. Sterner, in a short address, made all feel welcome to their deliberations. Dr. Waller forcibly showed the importance of teachers' institutes, claiming that an hour's discourse is worth a day's meditation. Miss Robbins read a paper in which she showed the utility of many things for busy work. Miss Finney read an interesting article on the Power of Temptation. The subject of reading received skillful attention by Miss Jones. Miss Bernhard read an able article on Music in the Schools. An illustrated object lesson on the hand was given by Miss Lowenberg before a class of five little boys. Their ready answers were amusing and interesting. Mr. Pursel very ably expressed the desire of the teachers to become better acquainted with the patrons of the schools. Mr Smith gave a talk on general school work. A recitation by Arnie Brockway and a duet by Masters Brown and Skeer were rendered in a very creditable manner. Misses Fox and Jones, Messrs. Yost and Yetter sang two excellent selections of music.

The teachers take this means of expressing their thanks to Rev. Leverett, Dr. Waller, Mr. Yost, Miss Jessie Ent, and others for assistance given the institute.

NORMAL SCHOOL NOTES.

If the pupils of the Normal School and the citizens of Bloomsburg do not enjoy a rich musical treat, and have a good laugh next Monday evening, it will be because they do not go to hear the Ariel Quartette, and John Thomas, the famous humorist.

Prof. Welsh wrote to a gentleman who has heard this entertainment a number of times, and he replies, "you will find no coarseness in any of Mr. Thomas' numbers. He is a clean humorist and a perfect gentleman. You will be more than delighted with the entire entertainment."

A more delightful entertainment than that afforded last evening by the Ariel-Thomas Combination of artists, it would be impossible to conceive. When a programme of ten numbers is lengthened into twenty one by reason of encores, as was the case last night, it bears pretty good evidence that the audience is well pleased.—Daily Telegram, St. John, Neb.

This is the kind of reports that come from every corner of the U. S. and Canada.

Mr. Walter Pick, the pianist, is as well-known abroad as he is in the U. S.

This entertainment will be given at the Normal School, Monday evening, Oct. 26th, at 8 o'clock. Seats are nearly all taken, those left may be had at Dentler's. Course tickets, $1.50; Single admission, 50c.

Look at this array of talent, and then reflect that a course ticket secures the enjoyment of these five entertainments at thirty cents each.

Ariel-Thomas Combination, Oct. 26th.
Jno. R. Clark, (A second John B. Gough) Nov. 23.
Mrs. H. E. Monroe, Jan. 15th.
Leland T. Powers, Feb. 12th.
James C. Ambrose (Sham Family) April 15th.

Election will be held one week from next Tuesday. It is important that every voter should attend. The present complicated corrupt condition of the financial affairs of the State should induce every citizen to go to the polls and vote for those whom they believe honest—whether of the same political party to which they belong or not. It is not a question of party issues—but of honest government. Go to the polls and vote.

Jack, the Giant Killer, Cinderella, Timothy Trot, and Courtship of Tommy Tomkins, operettas and pantomimes, all in one entertainment at the Opera House on Saturday evening. Great labor has been expended in the preparation of this, and it should be well patronized. Reserved seats 35 cents, admission 25 cents. Get seats at Dentler's.

Wilkes-Barre has an epidemic of scarlet fever and diphtheria. There are also a few cases in Catawissa. If any cases should appear in Bloomsburg, our medical men should at once notify the secretary of the school board as a late ordinance of the town prescribes. This is very important, as the school board will then see that none attend school who may cause the spread of the disease.

EAST BENTON.

Cornelius White of Cambra, a hiohly respected citizen, was buried in the family cemetery last Sunday. He was 72 years old.

Eli Beishline, son of Jacob U. of this place, informed us that in the Beishline orchard was found a Fornwalt-apple 14½ inches in circumference that weighed 19 ounces. Nathan Beishline of Bendertown exhibited an apple, of what variety we know not, that measured 15 inches in circumference and weighed 20 ounces. Whether this is the result of the McKinley bill, or over production we cannot tell.

The forest foliage in all its profusion though a little tinged with a golden hue, still lingers in the lap of Autumn.

A grand rally of the Luzerne county democracy will be held at Cambra on Saturday night the 24th inst. An old fashioned democratic time is expected.

Our people are wide awake on the issues of the day and hence have got their fall work well along.

The long winter nights are fast approaching and the COLUMBIAN should be in every home to keep the youngsters posted on winter sports.

Mrs. Sarah Wenner of Bendertown widow of Jacob Wenner is in failing health.

John Wenner of Vancamp who met with an accident in oats harvest we are glad to say, is now able to walk.

Jesse Alberson aged 94 on 7th of Nov. was at the funeral of Cornelius White last Sunday. The old man looks hale and hearty and bids fair for a centennial birthright.

There is a prospect of having a drinking fountain erected without expense to the town. The bequest of $2000 by David Stroup, the interest of which shall be paid to the Water Company, is likely to be put in such shape that it can be invested in a fountain, and the Water Company offers to furnish water free of charge, or in other words to donate the interest to the town. It is to be hoped that such an arrangement can be made.

The entertainments at the Opera House last week were all good, and well attended. Arlington's Minstrels drew a big house.

ONCE UPON A TIME.

When I was young and long before
The muse came tapping at my door,
I used to often sit and think
Of things which now I've put in ink.
What curious things I used to dream!
How very true they all did seem!
And when I came to bed at night
I begged my mother to recite
The Tales of Once upon a Time,
All written down in simple rhyme.
How eagerly I listened, and
How far I went in Fairyland!
And these same songs she sang to me
Still murmur in my memory.

For me she made the world anew—
A jewel of each drop of dew;
The autumn leaves of golden tint
Were coins come freshly from the mint;
The birds were poets all who sang;
The flowers were bells the fairies rang;
And everything I saw became
Another, with another name.

So, little folk, my verses are
Like beads from childhood's calendar
For you to string on Fancy's line,
To be your joy as they were mine.
Perchance for you they shall repeat
The same old stories, strangely sweet,
Which filled my days and nights with joy
When I was but a little boy;
And you shall start where I began,
To learn to be a happy man.
I wish you all the joy I had
To make my childhood bright and glad!

—Frank Dempster Sherman.

ATHLETIC VENGEANCE.

Smockton would hardly be called an English village. It was not much more than a hamlet, a poor and ugly one. A dozen or so of tumble down cottages were irregularly planted on either side of a long, straggling high road which came, flat and dusty, from the country town five miles off and passed away blank and unlovely in the direction of London. At either end of the portion of the road that for a while had become a street stood a slightly more pretentious tenement, with a board over the door bearing the announcement that the owner was licensed to sell beer and spirts. The adult male members of the community, pretty equally divided as to numbers, congregated before the doors of these establishments every evening, in moody companionship.

The other buildings partaking of a public character were a smithy, a "general" shop, and a wheelwright's back yard. Beyond the village, at a somewhat convenient distance to the rear, stretched a bald, patchy open space, variously called "the green" or "the common." A few bare poles at one end, connected by a rope, supported, at odd times, freshly washed linen, while two or three donkeys, temporarily exempted from hard labor, resented the suggestion that they were turned out to graze on this grassless green.

With these exceptions the ground was habitually deserted and lifeless. But twice a year a function, called "the fair" by the inhabitants of Smockton, swept away the clothes lines, the poles, and the donkeys, and filled the common with glitter and animation. Several gayly painted wagons, of the kind known as caravans, took possession of the common; a shooting gallery was established in a booth; rickety stalls for the sale of cheap drapery, boots and conglomerated sweets, were erected and a good sized tent stretched its weather beaten canvas over the most conspicuous plot of ground.

A large picture of crude design suspended over the entrance represented impossible gymnastic and acrobatic feats, wrestling, duels, and the attitudes of a fascinating female Samson, poising 100 pound weights with extended arms and jewelled fingers. A thin, white wigged clown, whose lower limbs were cased in ordinary trousers, standing outside on a barrel, announcing in shrill tones, with intervals of drum beating, that at the close of each of the three daily performances the celebrated athlete and fencing master, Mazagrano, owner of the show, who met in single combat all the crowned heads of Europe, would condescend to fight with sword, saber, foils, or sticks any gentleman in the audience willing to step into the ring and enter the lists with him.

It was the close of a sultry August day; the sun was sinking, and pierced with its level rays the haze, made of heat and dust, through which the wagons, the booths, and the people loomed large and indistinct. The lifted canvas curtain of the athlete's tent showed a roughly constructed circle of boards, and profiled on the black opening the swiftly moving figure of Lorenzo Mazagrano engaged in a single stick combat with a tall, straight, neat limbed soldier, who had thrown off his regimental jacket and accepted the proffered opportunity of measuring himself with the professional fencer for ninepenny stakes. The men were not badly matched.

The athlete was by far the most muscular and powerful of the two; but the private had superior skill and knowledge of his art. He wore an easy, good humored smile, while his opponent fought with set teeth and a dark scowl, as if more bent on avenging some personal quarrel than displaying professional talent. The contest was the last on the program. Most of the spectators, oppressed with the intense heat in the tent and allured by the prospect of refreshment outside, had deserted the ring and stood lazily near the entrance. Inside there remained only the two combatants, a boy (evidently a member of the company), the pale faced clown, and a woman.

She was seated on a square deal chest in a corner of the tent, gathering tightly round her shoulders a threadbare waterproof cloak, which, however, did not conceal her person so closely as to prevent a pink sandal, the lower part of a flesh colored stocking, and the edge of a red skirt bound with tarnished gold from being visible. At her feet were three large black cubes with handles, on which were written respectively in large white figures, lbs. 100, lbs. 200, lbs. 500. She rested her elbows on her knees, dropped her chin in her hands, and kept her eyes fixed on the athlete and the soldier.

It would have been difficult to state accurately the age of the woman, or to decide whether she was pretty or not; animated, her expression might be pleasenough; in its concentrated attention it was almost hard. Her complexion was brown to a dull red; her hair, plastered in festoons on her forehead, was braided at the back in broad oiled plaits confined by large brass hairpins. Her mouth was small, her lips thin; her eyes, which were large and round, had the half vacant, half melancholy look noticeable in the eyes of beasts of burden, which while they stretch out their necks to the yoke with the placid indifference of long habit, carry in their patient, reproachful glance a silent protest against the hopelessness of their fate.

Any one who had watched the woman narrowly might have seen that at each feint or subtle stroke her pupils dilated and her breath came more quickly through her parted lips. Presently the invincible Mazagrano had to confess himself absolutely vanquished.

The fight was over. The soldier turned with a little gesture of triumph toward the woman and smilingly saluted her with a stick in military fashion.

She responded neither by look nor gesture.

The athlete, who had remained doggedly mute listening angrily to the applause of the men outside, who had thrust their heads into the tent, allowed them to disperse once more; then striding toward the private, who had resumed his jacket, he placed his coarse hand on his shoulder and said savagely:

"Not so soon, my fine fellow. Let us play quits. Work it out with your fists. We'll wrestle, if you please."

The soldier looked surprised. The woman had started to her feet. The cloak falling to the ground revealed the garishness of her circus dress and her bare, outstretched arms.

"Don't fight him," she almost shrieked in a voice of terrified entreaty. "He is in one of his tantrums; he'll hurt you."

Mazagrano turned on her furiously. "So," he said with an ugly sneer, "you're afraid I'll spoil his beauty, missus." Then facing the private again he added brutally, "Are you a man or a coward?"

The soldier had become quite pale. He was brave, but not over strong, and he knew it. However, he began slowly to unbutton his coat again.

"Don't fight with him! Don't fight!" repeated the woman mechanically and almost inaudibly, as she sank down helpless on the wooden box.

Mazagrano crossed his arms over his chest and stood motionless, while his opponent attired himself in the wrestler's scanty apparel that had been flung at his feet. The athlete's eyes were bloodshot, his upper lip was lifted in a smile of bestial ferocity, and occasionally he shot a cruel glance at the woman, who gazed before her with widened, terror stricken eyes. The two men faced each other and closed. Not for long. Almost at once the soldier was thrown, both his shoulders touching the ground.

Before he could even attempt to rise Mazagrano placed one knee on his chest, and, seizing his head with his two huge hands, was slowly twisting it round. A stifled groan of agony broke from the victim, echoed by a piercing scream of despair from the woman. Then the athlete arose, spurning with his foot the inanimate mass.

The soldier's spinal cord was broken.

The woman had fallen forward on her extended arms. As the crowd poured into the tent Mazagrano walked up to her side, and, with a fierce gesture, lifting her head, pointed to the corpse and laughed.

A few minutes later he was surrounded, pinioned, and handed over to the rural policeman. He allowed himself to be led away without protest, and was immediately hurried off by the jailor to the county town, followed by an exulting group of boys, and escorted by two men, who volunteered their services as amateur minions of the law.

There was no third performance in the booth that night. As the darkness fell the glittering candles of the stalls were lighted; the shooting gallery profited by the collapse of the rival entertainment, and was crowded; the sale of liquor was unusually brisk; the stock of the itinerant venders disappeared rapidly, and as it was the last day of the fair the frolic was loud and the horseplay boisterous.

In the shadow of the dark and empty tent, half shrouded by the idly flapping canvas of the entrance, crouched a solitary figure, unheeding the laughter and shouts, the songs and the noise around her. It was the woman who had juggled with the weights. She had not changed her dress—its pitiful finery hung about her limbs still—only she had thrown a cotton apron over her bowed head that completely hid her face. Her whole frame was shaken by long, convulsive sobs.

Were her tears for the living or the dead?—Ernest Mobray, in London Budget.

Do Some Plants See?

Lady Boughey, Miss Thornwill and maids, of England, registered at the Richelieu yesterday, and went out to the stock yards before the ink of their names had dried. Lady Boughey is a prepossessing, amiable lady. She has been traveling around the world, and is especially devoted to botany. Talking about her pet subject, she said:

"Do you know that plants can see? Well, they can. Darwin in his book on plants ventures an opinion that plants have eyes, and I have proved to my own satisfaction that he is correct. When in Japan, a few weeks ago, I was sitting under a shady tree looking at a bright convulvulus. Its tendrils were leaning in a direction opposite to me. While dreaming I was startled to see that they were turning toward my tree. I remained quiet. In an hour the tendrils had all turned so they faced me. This was early. After breakfast I told Miss Thornwill of my discovery, and we went out in the yard to further inspect the plants and their movements. To my disgust the tendrils had turned their backs upon my tree. We got a little stick and placed it a foot from the nearest branch of the plant. In a quarter or an hour the tendrils began to squirm. The upper tendrils bent down and the side ones curved their tiny necks until they reached the stick. In two hours they had completely entwined it. It was on the side away from the light, and if the plants had not the faculty they never would have seen the stick and moved toward it."—Chicago Herald.

CHEATING IN HORSE BLANKETS

Nearly every pattern of 5/A Horse Blanket is imitated in color and style. In most cases the imitation looks just as good as the genuine, but it hasn't the warp threads, and so lacks strength, and while it sells for only a little less than the genuine it isn't worth one-half as much. The fact that 5/A Horse Blankets are copied is strong evidence that they are THE STANDARD, and every buyer should see that the 5/A trade mark is sewed on the inside of the Blanket.

WHAT IS SAPOLIO?

It is a solid handsome cake of scouring soap which has no equal for all cleaning purposes except in the laundry. To use it is to value it...

What will SAPOLIO do? Why it will clean paint, make oil-cloths bright, and give the floors, tables and shelves a new appearance. It will take the grease off the dishes and off the pots and pans. You can scour the knives and forks with it, and make the tin things shine brightly. The wash-basin, the bath-tub, even the greasy kitchen sink will be as clean as a new pin if you use SAPOLIO. One cake will prove all we say. Be a clever housekeeper and try it.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. THERE IS BUT ONE SAPOLIO.

NEW ELECTION LAW.

SECTION 20. To provide for the cost of the said shelves or compartments and guard-rails in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-two, the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the Secretary of Internal Affairs and the Auditor General shall be and they are hereby constituted a board to decide upon a pattern of the said shelves or compartments, and a pattern of the said guard rails, and upon the material to be used for them, and such other furniture and apparatus as may be necessary, and to fix a limit of cost of the same per shelf or compartment, and per linear foot or rail, and the said board shall, within two months after the passage of this act, notify the commissioners of the respective counties of the pattern adopted and of the limit of cost, and the said commissioners after they have provided the said shelves or compartments and guard rails, shall send to the Auditor General of the Commonwealth a statement of the voting places in the county, naming them, and of the number of shelves or compartments provided for each according to the pattern adopted, and of the cost of the same not exceeding the limit to be fixed as aforesaid, which statement shall be signed by the said commissioners, verified by the affidavit of one of them, and approved by the county controller or auditors. On receipt of the said statement the Auditor General shall draw warrants upon the treasury of the Commonwealth in favor of the treasurers of the counties from which the said statements shall have been received, for the sums therein stated to be due, and the State Treasurer is hereby directed to pay the said warrants.

The said shelves or compartments and guard rails shall thereafter be the property of the respective counties, and no further allowance shall be made to the counties, by the Auditor General, for providing the same.

SECTION 21. At the opening of the polls in each voting place, the seals of one package shall be publicly broken and the said package shall be opened by the judge of elections. The cards of instruction shall be immediately posted at or in each voting shelf or compartment, provided in accordance with this act for the marking of the ballots, and not less than three such cards and not less than five specimen ballots shall be immediately posted in or about the voting room, outside the guard-rail, and such cards and specimen ballots shall be given to any voter at his request. The second set of ballots shall be retained unopened by the respective judges of election until they are needed for the purpose of voting.

SECTION 22 Any person desiring to vote shall give his name and residence to one of the election officers in charge of the ballots, who shall thereupon announce the same in a loud and distinct tone of voice, and if such name is found upon the ballot check-list by the inspector or clerks in charge thereof, he shall likewise repeat the said name and the voter shall be allowed to enter the space enclosed by the guard-rail, unless his right to vote be challenged. No person whose name is not on the said list, or whose right to vote shall be challenged by a qualified citizen, shall be admitted within said guard rail until he has established his right to vote in the manner now provided by law and his name, if not on the check lists, shall then be added to both lists. As soon as a voter is admitted within the rail the election officer having charge of the ballots shall detach a ballot from the stub and give it to the said voter, but shall first fold it so that the words printed on the back and outside, as provided in section fifteen of this act, shall be the only wording visible, and no ballot shall be voted unless folded in the same manner. Not more than one ballot shall be given to a voter, except as is provided in section twenty-six of this act. As soon as a voter receives a ballot, the letter "B" shall be marked against his name on the margin of the ballot-check-list, but no record of the number of the ballots shall be made on the said lists. Besides the election officers and such supervisors as are authorized by the laws of the United States, or overseers appointed by the courts of this Commonwealth, not more than four voters in excess of the number of voting shelves or compartments provided, shall be allowed in said enclosed space at one time.

SECTION 23. On receipt of his ballot, the voter shall, forthwith, and without leaving the space enclosed by the guard-rail, retire to one of the voting shelves or compartments and shall prepare his ballot by marking in the appropriate margin or place a cross (x) opposite the party name or political designation of a group of candidates, or opposite the name of the candidate of his choice, for each office to be filled, or by inserting in the blank space provided therefor any name not already on the ballot, and in case of a question submitted to the vote of the people, by marking in the appropriate margin or place a cross (x) against the answer which he desires to give. Before leaving the voting shelf or compartment, the voter shall fold his ballot without displaying the marks thereon in the same way it was folded when received by him, and he shall keep the same so folded until he has voted.

After leaving the voting shelf and before leaving the enclosed space he shall give his ballot to the election officer in charge of the ballot box who shall, without unfolding the ballot, number it as required by the constitution of this Commonwealth, placing the said number in the right hand upper corner of the back of the ballot immediately to the left of the folding line printed thereon, and nowhere else, and shall then at once fold the corner at the folding line and fasten it securely down with the adhesive paste so as to cover the number on the ballot so that it cannot be seen without unfastening or cutting open the part so fastened down, and shall then deposit the ballot in the box. The voter shall mark and deliver his ballot without undue delay and shall quit the enclosed space as soon as his ballot has been deposited: Provided, That if at any time the constitution of this Commonwealth shall cease to require ballots to be numbered, no number shall be marked on the ballot and it shall be deposited in the ballot box by the voter himself.

SECTION 24. No voter shall be allowed to occupy a voting shelf or compartment already occupied by another, except when giving the help allowed by section twenty seven of this act, nor to remain within said compartment more than three minutes in case all of such compartments are in use and other voters are waiting to occupy the same. No voter not an election officer shall be allowed to re-enter the enclosed space after he has once left it, except to give help as hereinafter described. Each voter's name shall not be checked on the voting-check-list by the officer having charge thereof as soon as he has cast his vote, in the manner now provided by law. It shall be the duty of the judge of election to secure the observance of the provisions of this section, to keep order in the room in which the voting is held and to see that no more persons are admitted within the enclosed space than are allowed by this act. Each party which has, by its primary meeting, caucus, convention or board, sent to the proper office a certificate of nomination, and each group of citizens which has sent to the proper office a nomination paper as provided in sections two and three of this act, shall be allowed to appoint three electors to act as watchers at each voting place, without expense to the county, one of whom shall be allowed to remain in the room outside of the enclosed space. Each watcher shall be provided with a certificate from the county commissioners, or if the election be held in a township or borough, from the auditors of the same, stating his name, names of the persons who have appointed him and the party or policy he represents, and no party or policy shall be represented by more than one watcher in the same voting room at any one time. Watchers shall be required to show their certificates when requested to do so. Until the polls are closed no persons shall be allowed in the room outside of the said enclosed space, except these watcners, voters not exceeding ten at any one time, who are awaiting their turn to prepare their ballots, and peace-officers when necessary for the preservation of the peace. No person, when within the voting room, shall electioneer or solicit votes for any party or candidate, nor shall any written or printed matter be posted up within the said room, except as required by law.

SECTION 25. No list or memorandum of the names of voters, except such lists as are expressly authorized by law, shall be made within the voting room by any person or officer, nor shall any list or memorandum of the numbers marked upon the ballots be made or kept, except such lists as are expressly authorized by law: Provided, That any voter may make a memorandum of the number of his own ballot, and the watchers may keep their poll books and challenge lists. After the closing of the polls and before the ballot boxes are opened all the lists of voters upon which the numbers of the ballots are recorded, as now required by law, shall be placed in separate sealed covers, properly marked, and the stubs of all the ballots used, together with all unused ballots, and the ballot-check-list, shall also be enclosed in a sealed package properly designating the voting place, which package shall be sent to the proper office as required by law in the case of the ballots cast, and neither the said package nor the said lists of voters shall thereafter be opened, except by the return judges, or in the case of a contest, or upon the order of a court of competent jurisdiction.

Ben Butler at Sea.

HOW HE SAVED HIS VESSEL AND MEN FROM SHIPWRECK.

A characteristic which is the especial mark of Benjamin F. Butler is his fertility of resources and expedients. People know this mainly through the fact that in his law practice he is so often able to find some flaw or some crevice through which to extract a client whose case would be almost hopeless in the hands of anybody else. But this ability to "find a way out" has marked his whole life even from boyhood, any one who reads his book will be struck by it. In every difficulty, even though he might not adopt the prescribed and proper solution, he always was able to make one of some sort. This is well shown in his adventure on the shoals off Cape Hatteras, when bound for New Orleans during the civil war.

Owing to the carelessness or treachery of his ship captain, his transport steamer, the Mississippi, ran heavily upon the shoals. She had several regiments of soldiers on board, and a storm was coming on. The shore was a dozen miles away and the boats were sufficient to take off only a very small part of those on board. The captain was a traitor and the mate a "dote," as Butler says in his forthcoming book, and there was no one on board who knew what to do. An anchor had been dropped, but the vessel rolled upon it smashing a great hole in her bottom. Luckily the ship had water tight compartments, but the water poured in so rapidly that it soon filled the forward compartments up to the sea level.

The lives of hundreds of men were dependent upon the immediate action of a man who knew nothing whatever of seamanship.

Butler ordered out a company of soldiers, with instructions to shoot the first man who tried to lower a boat. He set others at work by lightning the vessel by throwing overboard everything in the order in which it could best be spared. The ship was lying at right angles with the shore and he sent men out in boats to find channels by sounding and to mark it by anchoring pork-barrels from which he had emptied the pork. He kept a solid body of men running back and forth the whole length of the vessel in order to keep her rocking so that she might not settle in the sand. He found out by the nautical almanac just when the tide would serve. When after anxious hours, he knew the tide to be at its height, he ordered every sail set, and the instant they were sheeted home, he gave the word for the engine to be started at full speed.

The ship had been resting part way over a narrow shoal. The combined force of sail and steam drove her a a few feet farther on, and then the weight of her water-logged prow broke down the bank of sand and she slid forward into deep water. Such heartfelt cheers as went up Butler says he never heard before or since.

We've heard of a woman who said she'd walk five miles to get a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription if she couldn't get it without. That woman had tried it. And it's a medicine which makes itself felt in toning up the system and correcting irregularites as soon as its use is begun. Go to your drug store, pay a dollar, get a bottle and try it—try a second, a third if necessary. Before the third one's been taken you'll know that there's a remedy to help you. Then you'll keep on and a cure'll come. But if you shouldn't feel the help, should be disappointed in the results—you'll find a guarantee printed on the bottle-wrapper that'll get your money back for you.

How many women are there who'd rather have the money than health? And "Favorite Prescription" produces health. Wonder is that there's a woman willing to suffer when there's a guaranteed remedy in the nearest drug store.

Deafness Can't Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

How the Pyramids Were Built.

A moneyed man, who was looking yesterday at the process of laying an artificial stone pavement in front of one of his many properties, startled the friends who were standing about him by remarking: "I believe that the Egyptian pyramids were built in just that way." Pressed for an explanation, he said that while he had never been in Egypt he had read the works of all Egyptologists, including Brugsch and Piazzi Smyth, and had never found in any of them a theory which would satisfactorily account for the manner in which the pyramids were constructed. "Now," he said, "you must remember that the pyramids are built of stone which bears no resemblance to anything found within five hundred miles of their location. It is incredible that the Egyptians of four or five thousand years ago should have possessed the mechanical ingenuity to move these enormous blocks of stone from the granite quarries of Abyssinia or Syria to the pyramids. Is it not much more natural to suppose that the ancient Egyptians possessed the secret of making artificial stone, and that the pyramids were constructed by layer upon layer of Nile River mud, hardened by just such processes as we employ to make artificial stone? It is a much more plausible explanation of their construction than the laborious and unintelligent suppositions that the stones were carried across the desert to form the foundation and base of the pyramids. I fairly believe that the Egyptians of the ante-Christian era understood the manufacture of artificial stone, and that they built the pyramids out of it."

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

DELVERNON, Pa., Nov. 27, '90.

DR. B. J. KENDALL CO.:

Gents—I would like to make known to those who are almost persuaded to use Kendall's Spavin Cure the fact that I think it is a most excellent Liniment. I have used it on a Blood Spavin. The horse went on three legs for three years when I commenced to use your Kendall's Spavin Cure. I used ten bottles on the horse and have worked him for three years since and has not been lame.

Yours truly, WM. A. CURL.

GERMANTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 2, 1889.

DR. B. J. KENDALL CO.,
Enosburgh Falls, Vt.

Gents: In praise of Kendall's Spavin Cure I will say, that a year ago I had a valuable young horse become very lame, hock enlarged and swollen. The horsemen about here (we have no Veterinary Surgeon here) pronounced his lameness Blood Spavin or Thoroughpin, they all told me there was no cure for it, he became about useless, and I considered him almost worthless. A friend told me of the merits of your Kendall's Spavin Cure, so I bought a bottle, and I could see very plainly great improvements immediately from its use, and before the bottle was used up I was satisfied that it was doing him a great deal of good. I bought a second bottle and before it was used up my horse was cured and has been in the team doing heavy work all the season since last April, showing no more signs of it. I consider your Kendall's Spavin Cure a valuable medicine, and it should be in every stable in the land. Respectfully yours,

EUGENE DEWITT.

Price $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors. DR. B. J. KENDALL CO., Enosburgh Falls, Vermont.

CHAIRMAN TOWNSEND'S ADDRESS.

BLOOMSBURG, OCT. 22, 1891.

FELLOW DEMOCRATS:

The time will soon arrive when you will again be called upon to exercise that great privilege or right of every American citizen, by recording your ballot, to decide the great question now before the people of this State, viz.: Shall the present corrupt system be continued by a set of men who have brought disgrace to the Commonwealth, or shall we elect men who are known to be honest and upright in the discharge of their duties? It is of vital importance, not only to the Democratic party, but to the citizens of this State. It is not a fight for Free Trade or Protection; it is a fight for honest government, for honest methods and for honest administration of the affairs of this great Commonwealth. You are also called upon to give your decision for or against a Constitutional Convention in Pennsylvania. It is a subject that deserves your earnest consideration so that you may vote with intelligence on so important a subject.

The Democracy has a chance to win this year, if Democrats do their duty; therefore, let me urge you to make every effort in your district to get out the vote, let none stay at home, and I believe that success will crown our effort and that we shall win a great victory.

JNO. R. TOWNSEND,
County Chairman.

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

The message which Governor Pattison sent to the State Senate, convened in extraordinary session, is remarkable, most of all, for the grave matters which are the subject of it, remarkable for the circumstances which demanded it, and remarkable for the clearness, directness and forcibleness with which it presents the evidence which has been with such careful, sagacious judgment and judicial skill gathered and compressed into an indictment as notable for its comprehensiveress as for its overwhelming array of inculpating facts circumstances and documents. It should have been, under our laws, impossible for the Chief Magistrate of the State to frame such an indictment; the circumstances demanding it should have been similarly impossible of realization, and it should have been impossible for the Governor, or for any one, to arraign with such conciseness and directness any public servants who were elected to high position of trust and responsibility by the deliberately exercised will of the people. But the indictment has been—had to be—framed, as the circumstances fully warranted it, and the arraignment of the Auditor General and State Treasurer had to be made, in view of the mass of testimony produced which rendered the making of it an imperative duty.

There is little in the matter of Governor Pattison's message which is absolutely new; it is the masterful, honest, fearless manner of the reformulation, the grouping, the placing in natural sequence, the binding together as a whole of old matters. unfortunately familiar enough to the public through the published proceedings of investigation bodies; which makes it of such great and common interest, and which gives it character, dignity and impressiveness. Through every paragraph of it there shines clearly as truth itself the light of a nigh official duty done, of public spirited purpose fulfilled.

If this message served no other purpose than that, which it so admirably serve., of carrying coviction to every intelligent, unprejudiced reader of it of the unquestionable propriety, of the imperative obligation which Governor Pattison owed to himself, his fellow citizens and the law to call the Senate to meet in extraordinary session to inquire into the "grave charges" so commonly made against the Auditor General and the State Treasurer, to the end that their innocence or guilt might be established, its author would still be more than justified in formulating and presenting it to the public through the Senate.

Whether or not it is conclusive of the guilt, incompetency or errors of any one is for the Senate alone, to which body it is addressed. to declare, but that it gives "reasonable cause" for an exhaustive inquiry of the subject-matters of it may be authoritatively declared by any one who has eyes to read and mind to form a just opinion. The nessage cuts the last bit of stable round from under the feet of those who stated or insinuated that Governor Pattison had been actuated by the basest partisan motive in calling the Senate to meet in extraordinary session; it not only does that, but it covers with shame those who so impugned his purposes. Governor Pattison needs no testimonials to sustain his character for invincible personal or official integrity, for purity of motive in his public or private acts, for high courage and fidelity to duty. If he did need them, they would be found in his call to the Senate and in the message which he recently sent to it. It is a message which concerns the whole body of the people of this Commonwealth and city not less than the Senate that is to pass upon it.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Democratic Opportunity in Pennsylvania

The Democrats of Pennsylvania have a glorious opportunity this fall to secure the State and redeem it from Radical misrule, which under the guise of protection (rather the disguise for robbery) has for many years held the people in thraldom, which has increased until the power of Monopoly has quite outridden the will of the people. The taxation of the people has been so unjust that although largely Republican, on two occasions the honest and brave Robert Pattison has been chosen Governor.

The farmers in the Grange in Pennsylvania have led the revolt against corporate rule, and have been the means of educating the people as to the need of tax reform.

The able management of the present campaign is due principally to the indefatigable work of Hon. James Kerr, who is booked for the clerkship of the next House of Representatives.

Mr. Kerr is one of these untiring workers who knows no such word as fail, and the outlook at present is most encouraging for the Democrats—but there is no chance for letting up in the work, and every honest reformer must do his whole duty to secure victory in November.

The Democrats of Pennsylvania have been handicapped by the Wanamaker-Quay school of patriots whose every idea was the G. O. P., and the dollars they could secure for their own use and that of their friends and clackers.

It is a disinterested kind of patriotism that leads men to give money to buy votes and control elections, and accept in return high official positions and neglect their Sunday schools.

The Pennsylvania farmers are opening their eyes and begin to realize that they have been paying the piper while the monopolists have been dancing. The school master has been abroad in the land, and these people like their fellow agriculturists in the South and West are feeling the yoke of monopoly that is bearing them to the ground. There is little doubt that the time is at hand when they will throw off the oppression of their taxmasters and redeem thmeselves, and bring the old Keystone State into full line with the Democratic party to which it so long was faithful.

No more important issues were ever presented to the people of Pennsylvania than those of the present campaign. The honor of the State is at stake, and all men who love honest government and hate corruption in official places, should vote against the men and methods that made it possible for the Bardsleys to steal hundreds of thousands of dollars from the State, and the city of Philadelphia. There is no question of tariff in this election, national affairs do not enter into it. It ought not to be necessary to call out the brass bands and hold public meetings in every school house, in order to get out a full vote. State pride and a love of honest government should arouse enthusiasm enough in every voter to go to the polls on November 3rd and vote for Wright and Tilden.

Columbia county is honored in having a Representative like Hon. E. M. Tewksbury. He is now stumping the State with the Democratic Candidates Wright and Tilden, at the invitation of the State Chairman. On Monday he spoke at Chambersburg, in the afternoon and Carlisle in the evening.

From there he went to Lancaster county with Wright, Tilden, and Dewitt. He reports the prospects for Democratic success as good. People throughout the State are becoming aroused to the situation, and they propose to vindicate the honor of Pennsylvania by wresting her financial departments from the hands of public plunderers.

THE "NEWS ITEM" POET FINDS A WATERY GRAVE—OUR DEFENSE.

For some time past the county correspondence of the Sentinel and COLUMBIAN has been running to poetry, and to seed, and in order to be in the swim the News Item hired a long-haired, red-nosed tramp printer, who claimed to be a blood relative of Ralph Waldo Emerson, and chawed "Miners' Extra," to edit a poetry department that was intended to knock the Sentinel and COLUMBIAN poets silly. A corner of the sanctum was given him and he went to work.

When we returned from Court Thursday evening, where with the aid friend Scarlet, of Danville, we had been advertising the News Item, we found the poet delivering a temperance lecture to the compositors, and the following his first effort, on the hook:

"In the swailing swirl of the soughful wind, as the gust goes glooring by, I sit by the bole of the baneful borch, with a mourn and a soulful sigh. The mellowing mists of the eve are low, and the frog in the dankful marsh chirps chirpingly sad in the ghoulsome gloom, in a swivering voice and harsh:

"Oh, where is the swing of the swoonful swish.
And the voice of the flim-flam foul?
Methinks it moans from the murky mould
And the home of the hootful owl.

"Now swivel me swift from the surging spring, I'm weary of wold and wind; the grewsome graik of jobberwock comes jimmering to my mind. The feeble song of the sportsome frog comes solemwise, soughing slow, and again I hear by the bournful birch the wail of his wimpled woe:

"Oh, where is the swing of the swoonful swish?
From the land of the springful sprole?
Must the blue mists blur on the drinkful drale,
And freight with their frought my soul?

We killed him for fear he might do worse, and buried him at midnight near "Bald Eagle" by the light of the Catawissa bridge lamps, where he lies, for the first time in his life, under the influence of water, but where in life he loved to linger—near a bar—News Item.

The great Dr. Boerhaave left three directions for preserving the health—keep the feet warm, the head cool, and the bowels open. Had he practised in our day, he might have added: and purify the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla; for he certainly would consider it the best.

John W. Morrison, republican candidate for State Treasurer is sending out stickers to the soldiers to try to catch their vote on the soldier issue. It is plain to see why Morrison takes this method, when the head of the ticket is also a soldier. If Morrison should get the soldier vote, certainly Gregg who is also a soldier should get it. The purpose is plain enough—Mr. Morrison is a disciple of Quay—and Quay has had a hold upon our State finances for many years, and the people propose this year to wrest it from him. The fact of Morrison's sending out stickers is an acknowledgment of his own weakness, and he wishes to avert the downward tide. The people are against him, and will vote for the farmer candidate, A. L. Tilden.

The elections in Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Iowa are being sharply contested with the probability of the democrats being victorious in all of them. In New York and Ohio the battle is fierce, and the winning party will have but a small majority. In Iowa and Massachusetts the democrats are in the lead and will probably re-elect their present democratic governors.

The Republican Senatorial District Conference met at the Exchange Hotel last Thursday, and nominated James Scarlet Esq., as delegate to the constitutional convention.

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines. Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. Peculiar in its strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "One Hundred Doses One Dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's. Peculiar in its medicinal merits, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered." Peculiar in its "good name at home,"—there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, has no other preparation ever attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly.

Hon. Geo. F. Baer Esq., a prominent democrat of Reading, and one of the ablest and best known lawyers in the state, has given to the public his reasons for opposing a constitutional convention.

A woman who can see.

She's the woman who gets well. It's the woman who won't see and won't believe who has to suffer.

And it's needless. There's a medicine—a legitimate medicine—that's made to stop woman's suffering and cure woman's ailments. It's Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It's purely vegetable and perfectly harmless—a powerful general, as well as uterine, tonic and nervine, imparting vigor and strength to the whole system. For periodical pains, weak back, bearing-down sensations, nervous prostration, and all "female complaints," it's a positive remedy. It improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, melancholy and nervousness, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and strength.

No other medicine for women is guaranteed, as this is. If it fails to give satisfaction, in any case, the money paid for it is refunded. You pay only for the good you get. On these terms it's the cheapest.

But more than that, it's the best.

THE INVISIBLE ARMY. } Of microbes (micro-organisms) is a mighty host, which indeed no man can number. Invisible to the naked eye, the poisonous part of this army is the cause of four fifths of all the disease of human family—they destroy more lives than war, famine, fire, murder and shipwreck combined, and they actually abbreviate the average term of human life by three-fourths. The way to relieve the human body of these microbes is to take Swift's Specific. When this medicine gets well into the system the poisonous germ must leave—he cannot exist there, hence he seeks an exit through the pores of the skin. After he departs, a continued use of the Specific will force out the poison, and the patient is well.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.

Robert E. Wright, and A. L. Tilden, Democratic candidates for Auditor General and State Treasurer, came to Bloomsburg at noon, last week Thursday. They were accompanied by Hon. John H. Fow of Philadelphia, and D. C. Dewitt Esq. of Towanda. The party was met at the depot by chairman J. R. Townsend, and a committee consisting of Judge Ikeler, Judge Millard, Col. Freeze, William Chrisman, Superintendent Johnston, Geo. E. Elwell, J. H. Mercer, W. F. Bodine, and others, and driven to the Exchange Hotel where they dined. At two o'clock they went to the Fair, and were introduced to as many people as possible in the limited time.

In the evening a meeting was held in the Court House, and although but short notice was given, and several entertainments were going on in town the room was well filled.

The meeting was called to order by Chairman Townsend, and Col. Freeze was elected President. The following Vice Presidents were chosen, Judge Murphy, Orvis McHenry, I. S. Kuhn, W. A. Kile, Hugh Quick and Robert Howell.

J. H. Mercer, R. Buckingham and Fred Ikeler were elected Secretaries. Excellent speeches were made by Messrs. Tilden, Wright, Dewitt and Fow.

The only speaker who referred to the constitutional convention was Mr. Dewitt, and he favored it. He is a candidate for delegate to the convention from Bradford county. His whole speech was full of humor, and like all the others, was loudly applauded.

Mr. Wright declared unequivocally in favor of equal taxation, and Mr. Fow talked about the work of the legislative investigating committee, of which he is an active and able member. The candidates left an excellent impression upon all whom they met.

BUCKHORN BLOSSOMS.

CLARK'S NEW ORGAN.

Oh Clark has bought an organ,
And the boys and girls they say
That it's just as good as a circus
To hear him sing and play.

Last Sunday his house was crowded,
And Clark was very proud
To think his singing and playing.
Had drawn such a very large crowd.

Now, Clark is very eccentric,
And this is his latest fad.
He keeps bachelor's hall
For the boys to call,
And of course they say they're glad.

A PARODY.

The shades of night were falling fast
As through our village streets there passed
A man, who on his shoulders bore
A ladder, and with it fell o'er
Into the mud

For he had whiskey in his brain,
And as he staggered thro' the rain,
His face was flushed, his eye was dim;
And people laughed and jeered at him,
The drunken fool.

He went on to his home that night,
His wife and children put to flight,
And as she fled, they bade her go
To him who made her husband so—
For protection.

Now those disgraceful scenes are past,
We hope and pray 'twill be the last,
So all you landlords we implore
To such as he, pray close your door.
A revoir.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Oct., 19, 1891.

The Harrison crowd have been shaken up from center to circumference by Mr. Blaine's letter explaining his position in relation to the McKinley tariff bill. They appear to regard the letter as Mr. Blaine's pronunciamento, issued to inform his special friends and followers that he is still in the political ring. And if republican opinion here is a fair reflection of it elsewhere, it looks very much like a gigantic Blaine boom was about to be launched on the country, and that Bre'r Harrison was to be crowded out of the hurrah, if such a thing can be done. One thing is very certain, Mr. Blaine's letter, which contains about nine parts endorsement of the Blaine reciprocity idea to one of the McKinley tariff act, is not the work of a sick man, but of a very shrewd wide-awake politician who is more intent upon pushing his own fortunes than upon helping McKinley. The fact is that Mr. Blaine will never forgive Maj. McKinley for snubbing him by ignoring every suggestion he made when the original McKinley bill was being constructed, and while he is too strict a party man to oppose McKinley's election he would not grieve any to see him defeated.

The officials of the State department are apparently never so happy as when deceiving the public. After repeatedly denying that our minister to China, who by the way happens to be a good democrat—Gen. Denvy, of Indiana—had been instructed to join with the powers in the recent demand made upon China for the protection of foreigners resident in that country, they now acknowledge that such instructions were sent to him some time ago. There may be times when these officials would be justified in temporarily keeping knowledge in their possession from the public, but there is never any time when misstatements by officials are justifiable, and least of all are they justifiable in this case, which may involve the country in war.

Civil Service Commissioner Roosevelt is again at his desk, and he is apparently trying to prevent the clerks in the government service from being bulldozed into giving up their money to political collectors. He says he intends to have a bill introduced in the next Congress to make it a crime to send circulars to office-holders asking them to make political contributions. Mr. Roosevelt may be perfectly honest, but he should not have prolonged his vacation until the departments had been "worked" if he really wished to put a stop to this evil.

Mr. Harrison made an excellent short speech on International arbitration to the Methodist Ecumenical Conference Saturday. Secretaries Noble and Foster also made speeches.

Representatives Mills and Crisp, the rivals for the Speakership, spent several days resting in Washington last week. They have both gone to fill campaign engagements, Mr. Mills to Massachusetts and Mr. Crisp to Ohio. The friends of both of these gentlemen claim their man to be in the lead in the Speakership contest, although acknowledging that neither have enough votes to nominate, and there is more bad feeling shown by some of their followers than should exist in a friendly campaign. If this is not eliminated, there is a probability that neither of them will receive the nomination.

There is a rumor that Mr. Harrison is trying to make some sort of a combination to secure the support of Gen. Russel A. Alger, who is now in Washington, it is said, by request of Mr. Harrison. It seems queer to see so much trouble being taken to capture an empty honor.

A special train carried a large crowd of Washington people to the funeral of the late Representative W. H. F. Lee, which took place Saturday afternoon at his late residence, Ravensworth, Virginia.

Rev. James M. Townsend, the Indiana colored clergyman who was in 1889 made Recorder of the General Land Office, has resigned, for the purpose of returning to Indiana. It was at first rumored that the colored preacher-politician was going back home to fight Harrison's renomination, but the fact has now leaked out that he goes at the special request of Mr. Harrison, to see if he cannot quell the anti-Harrison feeling which has of late shown itself to be rather strong among the colored voters of that State, as it would seriously interfere with the Harrison programme to have it stated upon the floor of the republican national convention that any considerable body of voters in his own state were opposed to his renomination.

The Court of Claims meets next Monday, and it is expected that the vacancy on its bench will be filled this week.

There are few, if any officials in the Pension Office who believe that Gen. Raum will ever resume his position at the head of that bureau. It is thought that his resignation would have been announced before this but for the difficulty in obtaining his successor.

Undisputed Merit.

The great success of the Royal Baking Powder is due to the extreme care exercised by its manufacturers to make it entirely pure, uniform in quality, and of the highest leavening power. All the scientific knowledge, care and skill, attained by a twenty years' practical experience are contributed toward this end, and no pharmaceutical preparation can be dispensed with a greater accuracy, precision and exactness. Every article used is absolutely pure. A number of chemists are employed to test the strength of each ingredient, so that its exact power and effect in combination with its co-ingredients is definitely known. Nothing is trusted to chance, and no person is employed in the preparation of the materials used or the manufacture of the powder, who is not an expert in his particular branch of the business. As a consequence, the Royal Baking Powder is of the highest grade of excellence always pure, wholesome and uniform in quality. Each box is exactly like every other, and will retain its powers and produce the same and the highest leavening effect in any climate, at any time. The Government Chemists after having analyzed all the principal brands in the market, in their reports placed the Royal Baking Powder at the head of the list for strength, purity, and wholesomeness, and thousands of tests all over the country have further demonstrated the fact that its qualities are, in every respect, unrivaled.

THE GERM THEORY. } Shows that all epidemic, endemic, and contageous diseases are produced by minute infecting germs or microbes, peculiar to each disease, which enter the system. It being a well settled fact that any remedy which would kill the germ or microbe would destroy the life of the patient, it has been found that to force out these germs is the only safe relief from their ravages. In this way Swift's Specific has for 60 years been curing blood and skin diseases. It forces out the microbes through the pores of the skin, and soon sends out the poison which they may have left. In this way the disease is cured, and the general health of the patient is built up.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Prescott are keepers of the Gov. Lighthouse at Sand Beach, Mich and are blessed with a daughter, four years old. Last winter she was taken down with Measles, followed with a dreadful Cough and turning into a Fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit treated her, but in vain, she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere "handful of bones".—Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles, was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold, yet you may get a trial bottle free at C. A. Kleim's Drugstore.

UTICA'S SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.

A Big Parade and Other Ceremonies Attend Its Unveiling.

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 13.—The soldiers' and sailors' monument in this city was unveiled to-day in the presence of a large number of people and scores of military organizations, Grand Army posts and civic societies.

The programme at the monument consisted of a salute by the Fifth Battery N. G. S., N. Y., music by Doring's band, prayer by the Rev. Dr. Thomas T. Brown, singing the Star-Spangled Banner by the Utica Maennerchoir, address of presentation to the city by Major William H. Bright, address accepting the monument by Mayor A. T. Goodwin, dedicatory address by Gen. John M. Palmer, Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic; oration by Gen. Joseph R. Hawley, chorus and benediction.

The monument is of bronze and granite, and is located on Oneida square. It was designed by Karl Gerhardt of Hartford, Conn. The cost of the monument was $30,000. Fifteen thousand dollars of this was raised by private subscription, public entertainments, &c., and $15,000 was voted by the citizens of Utica.

MRS. GREGORY'S MURDERER AT LARGE.

The Authorities Busily Engaged in Working Up Limited Clews.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Oct. 15.—The murder of Mrs. Noah Gregory is the only thing talked about here to-day. The murderer left bloody stains all about the room, and on the hitching post were traces of his horrible deed.

Detective Elwell was soon on the spot, and the authorities at one told him to go ahead and spare no expense in discovering the murderer.

A man in the neighborhood, who had been heard to say that "the Gregories had lots of money in the old house," was arrested and taken to police headquarters, where he was questioned closely. He was released, however, as nothing was adduced that cast any suspicion on him.

The little farm house was surrounded to-day by a crowd of awe-stricken men, women and children, all theorizing on the tragedy.

Mrs. Gregory was a woman about forty-five years old, tall, graceful and with a pleasant face. She was the mother of two sons.

No pains will be spared to discover the murderer, and a large reward will be offered.

EIGHT OR TEN MILLIONS.

The Hopkins-Searles Will Contest Reported Compromised.

BOSTON, Oct. 14.—The Searles will contest has undoubtedly been compromised. Perhaps not just all the legal steps have been taken, but the work is practically done. This was the story which was whispered by leading lawyers this morning. Timothy Hopkins was bound to have his share.

He wanted $12,000,000 but the figure with which he has been obliged to put up is understood to be somewhere between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000. The whole estate inventories at about $25,000,000. If Hopkins had broken the will on the ground of undue influence he would have had the half that even an adopted son has a claim to under the laws of Massachusetts.

The great element on both sides leading to a compromise has been the Southern Pacific stocks. No one wanted that to become split and divided about outside.

PHILLIPS BROOKS A BISHOP.

Consecrated at Trinity Church, Boston, on Wednesday.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 14.—Rev. Dr. Phillips Brooks, rector of Trinity Church was to-day consecrated as bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Massachusetts. Trinity Church was crowded and only a small part of those who wished to attend could get places within the structure. It was an imposing ceremony. Six hundred clergymen, many of whom are of world wide renown, were gathered about the chancel rail to assist in the solemn rite. The sermon was preached by Bishop Potter of New York. The administration of the communion followed, with Bishop Williams as celebrant, assisted by Bishops Brooks, Whipple, Littlejohn, Potter, Doane and Talbot, the bread and wine being administered to the bishops and clergy.

ATLANTA AND YANTIC IN PORT.

The Former Suffered Some Damage During the Heavy Gale.

DELAWARE BREAKWATER, Del., Oct. 14.—The United States Steamship Atlanta, which left New York on Sunday to go to the assistance of the stranded government steamer Despatch, arrived here this afternoon, short of coal.

The Atlanta had fifty hours of a heavy gale, during which a hawse pipe split. A violent explosion of gas occurred by which six men were injured. Two of the injured men are in a critical condition. The Atlanta is now engaged in repairing engines.

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 14.—The United States steamship Yantic arrived here this morning.

The Count had come home from the United States only a few weeks ago in feeble health, having been in August granted three months leave.

Prof. Bergmann performed an operation on the Count on Monday last, his stomach having for some time past refused to retain food. The operation was not successful.

THE LAW AS TO LABELS.

A Sweeping Decision Against Trades Unions Handed Down at Pittsburg.

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 18.—A sweeping decision against trades unions was handed down by Judge Williams, and concurred in by the other Supreme Court Judges, in a case just decided at Pittsburg.

Cigarmaker's International Union No. 126 of Ephrata, Lancaster county, by bill in equity restrained Cigar Manufacturer John H. Brendle from using Cigarmakers' International Union label on his goods. The County Court sustained the master's report in behalf of this injunction. Brendle is a union manufacturer who had incurred the ill will of local officials and refused to use their labels. He issued similar labels or trade marks of his own, and appealed to the Supreme Court from the injunction.

Judge Williams reverses the lower court's decision on the ground that the Cigarmaker's union, formed for the "mental, moral and physical welfare of its members," is a personal and social organization, not a commercial one, and under the law of Congress, therefore, cannot own a trade mark.

MILLONS FOR A PAUPER.

An English Fortune for a Poorhouse Inmate at Butte, Mont.

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 18.—Mrs. Ann A. Deligh, an inmate of the poor house of this city and eighty years of age, received notice to-day that she is the heiress to an estate worth $8,000,000 in England. The story dates back two centuries, at which time her great grandfather on her mother's side owned a vast estate near London. His oldest son removed to America, settling and marrying in Virginia. Two children, William and Annie, were born of the marriage, the latter the mother of Mrs. Dodge. The son and his wife died and the two children moved to Kentucky. Both married, the son dying without issue, and the daughter Ann marrying William Coleman. Both died forty years ago leaving Mrs. Dodge and a sister. They moved to Missouri, where Mrs. Dodge's husband died twenty years ago.

KILLED IN A CONVENT.

A Coal Stove Explodes at Orangeburgh, With Fatal Results.

NYACK, Oct. 17.—A fatal accident occurred in the convent of St. Agnes, Order of the Sisters of St. Dominick, at Orangeburgh last night. While two of the sisters and three boys were standing in the laundry a small coal stove exploded.

Thomas Green, aged seventeen, was terribly mangled and burned. His thigh bone and several ribs were broken, and he was cut about the head and face by flying iron. He died two hours later. Andrew Boardman, another boy, was sent flying through a big window which opens from the laundry on the piazza, carrying the sash with him, but escaping with a few cuts and slight bruises. The others were hot hurt.

Liabilities More Than $300,000.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 19.—Jonathan Steward, a wholesale and retail grocer, made an assignment to-day for the benefit of his creditors. He was a heavy indorser of the Star Rubber Company. He shows assets amounting to $185,000, while his liabilities are more than $300,000. He is eigthty-two years old, and there is much sympathy for him in the business community. He asked for two years' time recently in which to straighten out his affairs and make good his obligations, but the First National Bank of South Amboy concluded to bring suit on paper for $2,000, and this precipitated the matter.

Trod on a Nail and Died of Lockjaw.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Oct. 19.—While walking along the street two weeks ago Mrs. George Giddis stepped on a rusty nail that pierced her foot half its length. She died this morning in great agony of lockjaw.

The Gondolo Tanning Company works at Grapeville, Pa., were partially destroyed by fire Sunday. Loss, $50,000.

He Was Merciful.

The trains on one of the railroads leading into Atlanta are notoriously slow, and they are on that account much frequented by tramps, who can readily catch on as they pull out of stations. Not long ago, as a passenger train stopped at a water tank, a tramp, dusty and tired-looking, slipped off a truck and approached the conductor.

"Ain't you the conductor?" he asked.

"What were you doing under that car?" was all the information he received.

"Ridin'; you didn't s'pose I was walkin', did you?"

"Well, what do you want? I'm the conductor."

"For the Lord's sake, mister, can't you put more steam on, or put a brakemen out behind to push her, or do something to get along faster! I want to get to Atlanta before the exposition is over."

"Come off," growled the conductor. "If you don't like it why don't you walk?"

"Because the president of this road is a friend of mine," and the tramp drew himself up in a dignified way, "and if I walk I'll beat the train there about eight hours, and that'll set competin' lines to makin' unkind remarks. I ain't goin' back on a friend in no sich low down manner as that, even if I didn't git to Atlanta in time to make New Year's calls; you hear me, cully conduc."

The conductor gave him a seat in the smoking car after that, and he went to sleep and forgot that there was any such place on the map as Atlanta.—Detroit Free Press.

Rules for Correspondents.

Write only news items of general interest, and aim to have them fresh and reliable. Get all the news and condense it in as few words as possible. Give the fullest details in the case of a serious accident, murder or suicide.

Write the name of your postoffice and date.

Write your most important news items first.

Be careful to spell all proper names correctly, and write every letter in them plainly.

You may describe unusually severe local storms, but in no other case should you speak of the weather.

In giving "personals" don't mention visits among neighbors or to persons in the same part of the county, unless they are attended by some accident or other unusual event.

Don't puff anybody's business unless it is paid for as an advertisement. Where such puffs please one reader they offend several others.

State facts only, not gossip or opinions, and state them in short sentences.

Be careful as possible to write nothing that would give offense to any one. Don't speak of your enemies at all unless you can speak kindly of them.

Number the pages of your manuscript; don't number the items; write only on one side of the paper, and sign your name.

They Appreciate the Country Paper.

The New York Sun says: It would do the hearts of country editors good to ride up town on the elevated cars in the afternoon of Friday and Saturday on any week in the year. On these two days a great many business men give only a hasty glance at the evening papers and then immediately draw from a pocket a copy of a paper that is in marked contrast to the city paper, so far as type and general appearance goes.

The type is invariably larger and the displays of advertisements and headings to news articles commonly coarser. The ink is not always spread evenly over the page. Nevertheless the business man opens the paper to the page devoted to village news and reads every line there. After that he not infrequently reads the village advertisements and gives a brief look at the editorials. The city man used to live in the village where that paper was printed, and he recognizes the names of people there as old acquaintances and commonly old friends. The village paper comes like a letter from home to the city man who was once a villager.

It Deserves Your Support.

Every year every local paper gives from 100 to 5,000 free lines for the sole benefit of the community in which it is located. No other agency can or will do this. The local editor in proportion to his means does more for his town than any other ten men, and in all fairness, man with man, he ought to be supported, not because you may happen to like him or admire his writing, but because a local paper is the best investment a community can make.

It may not be brilliant or crowded with great thoughts, but financially it is more of a benefit to a community than the preacher or teacher. Understand us, now; we do not mean morally or intellectually, but financially, and yet on the moral question you will find the majority of the local papers are on the right side of the question. Today the editors of local papers do the most work for the least money of any men on earth. Subscribe for your local paper; not as a charity but as an investment.

The Ideal Community.

An exchange says: A perfect town is that in which you see the farmer patronizing the home merchants, the laborers spending the money they earn with their own tradesmen, and all animated by a spirit that will not purchase articles abroad if they can be bought at home. The spirit of reciprocity between man and the mechanic, tradesman and laborer, farmer and manufacturer results every time in making the town a perfect one to do business in. "Perfection" should always be desired, even where attainment is barely possible, we presume, but a perfect town must be denominated a great rarity until we reach a more advanced stage toward the millennium than has yet been gained.

An Editor's Experience.

A newspaper can say nice and pleasant things about a man and his whole family for two long years, and then incur their lifetime enmity in one short week by a seeming slight. Yes, it's the fact; and you can hurrah for a candidate, back his friends, cuss his enemies and make a darn fool of yourself all the way through, without a thank in the end, to find when you are a candidate that he is "out o' politics." But there is one man that don't forget you, and that's the man you opposed.—Exchange.

The Index of Progress.

"By their newspaper shall ye know them" was the apt comment of a successful merchant upon the claims of an aspiring community whose citizens were soliciting his interest and endeavoring to impress upon him the enterprise of its people. Year by year the newspaper of a community is becoming more definitely the index of the enterprise and progressive tendencies of its people.

Publishers' Postal Privileges.

Publishers of newspapers and periodicals may print or write upon their publications sent to regular subscribers the address of the subscriber and the date when the subscription expires, and may inclose therein bills and receipts for subscriptions thereto, without subjecting such publications to extra postage.—Section 3.886 of Revised Statutes of United States.

Trials of Editors.

An editor is in high favor with his readers when each one finds something to please him, but let one of those readers find an item that is contrary to his preconceived notion and that editor doesn't know what he is talking about. But then this is human nature.

Outline Fishing.

We have been requested, time and time again, in our line of official duty as Fish Warden, to arrest parties for fishing with outlines. We will say in reply, that outline fishing is not illegal, according to the dicisions of the courts of the State, except as to catching game fish thereon, such as bass, salmon, etc., consequently we have no authority to make such arrests.—Catawissa Item.

I. W. Hartman & Sons.

We are in the city this week looking up cash bargains in all kinds of goods.

The premium cake came to us and was eaten by our clerks and others, who decided it was worthy of a silver premium. Not all the 20,000 who attended the Fair on Friday or Saturday called to see us; many did, and went home with a new coat, new dress pattern, new gloves, new shoes, or some article which made them and us happy. The sales on coats, dress goods, shawls, blankets, dishes, lamps, &c., promise well this fall, we have a big line of them. Our Fair Butter was all good this time. We have not seen much of the $4,000,000 of gold which came over from Europe last week for grain &c. Think it will be around about Christmas time. We are getting ready for it.

JOHN HOEY DEPOSED.

REMOVED FROM THE PRESIDENCY OF ADAMS EXPRESS CO.

Vice-President Spooner Also Goes Out—Both Charged With a Questionable Deal in Express Stock—Henry Sanford Succeeds Mr. Hoey.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The Board of Managers of the Adams Express Company met yesterday and elected Henry Sanford as president in place of John Hoey, who was deposed from the position on Monday. Frederick Lovejoy was elected as a member of the Board of Managers and vice-president in place of Clapp Spooner, who resigned both positions.

The charge which was made against Messrs. Hoey and Spooner, which led to these sudden changes, was malfeasance in office. Henry Sherburne, Clapp Spooner and Henry C. Taft owned the stock of the New York and Boston Dispatch Express Company and the Kingsley Express Company. This stock was sold to the Adams Express Company through the agency of Mr. Hoey and Mr. Spooner for $300,000.

Suspicion was aroused by a suit which was begun last April by Mr. Sherburne against Messrs. Spooner, Taft and Hoey to recover $87,500. Mr. Sherburne claimed that Hoey was to receive one-fourth the amount for making the deal. Mr. Sanford, one of the managers of the Adams Express Company, investigated the matter. He claims that the property which was purchased for $800,000 was worth less than $200,000. The purchase was made against the advice of the managers, and Mr. Hoey admitted in court that his share of the profits amounted to $179,000.

President Hoey had been with the company for forty years, and for three years had been its President. Vice-President Spooner had also been with the company for many years. He is a millioniare and lives in Bridgeport, Conn.

Mr. Sanford, the new president, is a millionaire residing in Bridgeport, Conn. He is sixty, and has been connected with the company for thirty-five years. He was several years the general superintendent until that office was abolished a few years ago. Since that time he has been one of its managers.

Frederick Lovejoy, the Vice-President and General Manager, is nearly fifty years old, and he too, has made a fortune out of the Adams Express Company. He entered its service in his youth, and rose to be Assistant Superintendent. Later he was put in charge of the Pennsylvania division. He is a New Yorker, living with his wife at the Gilsey House. He is a director in the Subway Company and has a steam yacht, the Neaira.

TIES PILED ON THE TRACK.

Attempt to Wreck a Train on the Delaware and Hudson Road.

SARATOGA, Oct. 13.—An attempt was made last night to wreck the south bound steamboat passenger train from this station on the Delaware and Hudson Railroad just north of Round Lake. The engineer saw an obstruction across both tracks, and before he could stop his train the engine plunged into the obstruction, which proved to be a lot of ties piled across the tracks, with a telegraph pole on top of them. The force of the blow cut the telegraph pole in two and the ties were pushed off on both sides of the track. The train did not leave the rails. The passengers were shaken up, but none was injured.

Death of Judge Allen.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Henry Wilder Allen, judge of the Court of Common Pleas, died at the Chamber Street Hospital at 12.40 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Judge Allen fell in an apoplectic fit at the new Court House Saturday afternoon, and never regained consciousness. Judge Allen was fifty-five years old, and a native of Alfred, Me. He was appointed to the Bench of the Court of Common Pleas in June, 1884, by Governor Cleveland to succeed Judge Van Brunt. He was elected to the place October 21, 1884. Chief Justice Chase appointed him a Register in Bankruptcy, which he held until 1884. His term on the Common Pleas Bench would have expired in 1889.

Three Newspaper Men Killed.

CRETE, Ill., Oct. 15.—Two reporters of the Chicago Inter-Ocean named Washburn and Henry, and McCafferty, the special artist of that paper, were instantly killed last night at this place, by an engine on which they were riding dashing against an engine house. The train men jumped and escaped.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Stands at the head of all blood medicines. This position it has secured by its intrinsic merit, sustained by the opinion of leading physicians, and by the certificates of thousands who have successfully tested its remedial worth. No other medicine so effectually

CURES

Scrofula, boils, pimples, rheumatism, catarrh, and all other blood diseases.

"There can be no question as to the superiority of Ayer's Sarsaparilla over all other blood-purifiers. If this was not the case, the demand for it, instead of increasing yearly, would have ceased long ago, like so many other blood medicines I could name."—F. L. Nickerson, Druggist, 75 Chelsea st., Charlestown, Mass.

"Two years ago I was troubled with saltrheum. It was all over my body, and nothing the doctors did for me was of any avail. At last I took four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and was completely cured. I can sincerely recommend it as a splendid blood-purifier."—J. S. Burt, Upper Keswick, New Brunswick.

"My sister was afflicted with a severe case of

SCROFULA

Our doctor recommended Ayer's Sarsaparilla as being the best blood-purifier within his experience. We gave her this medicine, and a complete cure was the result."—Wm. O. Jenkins, Deweese, Neb.

"When a boy I was troubled with a blood disease which manifested itself in sores on the legs. Ayer's Sarsaparilla being recommended, I took a number of bottles, and was cured. I have never since that time had a recurrence of the complaint."—J. C. Thompson, Lowell, Mass.

"I was cured of Scrofula by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—John C. Berry, Deerfield, Mo.

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The greatest sale of thoroughbred horses ever held in any country was concluded last night, when stallions and yearlings belonging to the Nursery Stud of the late Hon. August Belmont was disposed of by Tattersalls of New York. Records were made for the Old World to shoot at, and prices were paid that will cause the whole universe to marvel. To Charles Reed of Fairview Stud, Gallatin, Tenn., belongs the honor of keeping St. Blaise, the great son of Hermit, on this continent, that gallant sportsman paying $100,000 for the royal chestnut that has made a name for himself second to none in this sphere in two short seasons at the stud. MAIL DELIVERY FOR THE FARMER.

The Postmaster-General in Favor of Extending the Carrier Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—An organized effort is under way among farmers to secure from Congress free mail delivery in country towns. The Farmers' Alliance, Patrons of Husbandry, and other orders are canvassing the matter, letters are being written to congressmen, and petitions to congress are being circulated. Farmers assert that a daily mail delivery at their door will add to the value of their farms, and will rob farm life of its isolation and monotony.

In the American Agriculturist for November, Postmaster-General Wanamaker states definitely for the first time that the experiment made by the Post Office Department for free delivery in farmer districts, shows that the increase in revenue more than pays all the increased expense. He believes that universal free delivery would, therefore, be self-sustaining.

MINERS' WAGES STOLEN.

Gold Robbery at a Mine Office, and Speedy Capture of the Thieves.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 17.—Spencer's colliery office at Dunmore was entered to-day and robbed of $12,760. John Brady was alone in the office at the time. He is the mine foreman, and was watching the office while the paymaster was at dinner. Charles Engle and George Snow came in suddenly and pounced upon the unsuspecting Brady, whom they overpowered, gagged and blindfolded and tied in a chair. Then they gathered up the money, which was in envelopes all ready for payment to the miners to-day.

The police were soon on their track, and they were captured shortly after they had committed the robbery. Joseph Bowen and John Hollister, accessories, were also arrested, and the four men are now in jail.
